Residential Rebuilding Assistance Program

City Creates New, Innovative Residential Rebuilding Assistance Program

The City of Long Beach is offering additional comprehensive residential rebuilding services with the ultimate goal of helping Long Beach residents receive the funding and resources they need and deserve. This innovative partnership is the first of its kind in our region.

This brand new program is funded by a Community Development Block Grant that the City obtained from New York State to accelerate the repair, reconstruction and replacement of residences affected by Superstorm Sandy.

The goals of this program are to:

1. Help residents obtain the funding and resources they need and deserve to rebuild resiliently.
2. Assist residents in navigating various processes and agencies to help everyone return to or remain in their homes.
3. Facilitate the permitting process; provide disaster case management, information, referral and other needed services (e.g., support and counseling) to Long Beach residents in all aspects of Sandy recovery.

This innovative, first-of-its-kind initiative will help City Government help the City's residents by:

1. Collecting data to more accurately track progress of residential rebuilding.
2. Identifying and reporting trends and issues, enabling the City to better assist residents in their recovery operations.

A streamlined process to help residents get what they need:

- ✓ The Residential Rebuilding Assistance Program will be located in a dedicated office in City Hall, with computer terminals available for residents to use to complete any necessary paperwork.
- ✓ The Residential Rebuilding Coordinator will be available to work one-on-one with residents who are in need of assistance.
- ✓ For assistance, please e-mail Isabel Munoz at RRC@longbeachny.gov or call 516-705-7222.
